

Biological and Material Chemistry Program

Biological and Material Chemistry Program provide comprehensive education in basic chemistry, materials chemistry, chemical engineering, biological and food science. You will learn required subjects including physical chemistry, organic chemistry, inorganic chemistry, analytical chemistry, polymer chemistry, biochemistry, and food-related subjects that form the basis of chemistry and application fields. This program aims to cultivation the graduates who can contribute to SDGs by acquiring a viewpoint, abilities and skills through the educational studies.